SI Section 1: Documentation of Manifesto Project data on party platform statements

This appendix categorizes Democratic and Republican party platform statements from 2004-2020. The Manifesto Project has annotated its codings for every party platform within that range. Prior to 2004, it only releases aggregate data that count the overall number of statements that correspond to various content codes. Parties' 2024 platforms were not available at the time this manuscript was submitted.

Manifesto Project coders divide platforms into “sentence fragments” that convey policy-relevant information. For more detail on how coders delineate sentence fragments, see https://manifestoproject.wzb.eu/down/data/2023a/codebooks/codebook_MPDataset_MPDS2023a.pdf. The paper examines statements that the Manifesto Project assigned to three content codes: negative attitudes towards military power (content code 105), negative attitudes towards internationalism (code 109), and positive attitudes towards protectionism (code 405). These are the principal sources of data that Trubowitz and Burgoon use in their book, Geopolitics and Democracy, to document eroding political commitments to supporting global order. As shown below, none of these statements directly challenges the Truman-Eisenhower consensus. Instead, virtually all criticisms of U.S. foreign policy that have appeared in Democratic and Republican party platforms since 2004 address commitments, such as invading Iraq or potentially joining the International Criminal Court, that fall outside the scope of U.S. foreign policy during the early Cold War.

Statements coded by the Manifesto Project as “Military – Negative” (content code 105).¹

- Criticisms of the wars in Iraq and Afghanistan (46)
 - 2020 D: “[And we will honor our sacred covenant with our women and men in uniform, our veterans, and our military families] who have carried the burdens of wars that must—at long last—come to an end.”
 - 2020 D: “Rather than end our forever wars, he’s brought us to the brink of new conflicts”
 - 2020 D: “we need to bring our forever wars to a responsible end”
 - 2020 D: “Our military engagements, which have spanned from West Africa to Southeast Asia, have cost more than $5 trillion”
 - 2020 D: “... and claimed more than half a million lives.”
 - 2020 D: “Our war in Afghanistan is the longest war in American history, with the youngest U.S. troops now fighting a war that was launched before they were even born.”

¹ This list excludes two statements that criticize the military behavior of other countries (Russia’s invasion of Georgia and the Syrian civil war). It also excludes 78 statements that propose countering the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction or enhancing arms control. The Manifesto Project codes support for nonproliferation and arms control as reflecting negative attitudes towards military power because they involve “reducing the importance and significance of military power on the national and international level” (personal communication with Tobias Burst, April 14, 2023). But support for nonproliferation and arms control does not imply that parties wish to retrench U.S. military power.

- 2020 D: “President Trump said he would get the United States out of these wars, but instead he deployed more combat forces, expanded their missions,”
- 2020 D: “... and stoked regional tensions that unnecessarily endangered American lives and interests.”
- 2020 D: “[Democrats will deliver on this overdue commitment to end the forever wars, and we will do it responsibly—setting priorities,] leading with diplomacy”
- 2020 D: “... and bringing our troops home.”
- 2020 D: “That is why we will work with Congress to repeal decades-old authorizations for the use of military force.”
- 2020 D: “Rather than occupy countries and overthrow regimes to prevent terrorist attacks, Democrats will prioritize more effective and less costly diplomatic, intelligence, and law enforcement tools.”
- 2020 D: “[Ending the forever wars,] reducing the enormous stress on our forces,”
- 2020 D: “We spend five times more in Afghanistan each year than we do on global public health and preventing the next pandemic.”
- 2020 D: “Democrats believe it’s past time, however, to rebalance our tools, engagement, and relationships in the Middle East away from military intervention”
- 2016 D: “[When President Obama and Vice President Biden took office...] we were mired in two costly wars.”
- 2016 D: “Democrats will seek an updated Authorization for Use of Military Force (AUMF) that is more precise about our efforts to defeat ISIS and that does not involve large-scale combat deployment of American troops.”

- 2016 D: “We also firmly reject Donald Trump’s willingness to mire tens of thousands of our combat troops in another misguided ground war in the Middle East, which would only further embolden ISIS”
- 2016 D: “and he is unwilling to rule out using a nuclear weapon against ISIS.”
- 2016 R: “[We must rebuild troop numbers and readiness and confirm their mission:] not nation building.”
- 2016 R: “In many cases, they and their children have been at war for 14 years.”
- 2016 R: “The burden of our country's extended military involvement in the Middle East has taken a toll on our service personnel.”
- 2012 D: “And they’re why President Barack Obama has ended one war and is responsibly drawing down another.”
- 2012 D: “paid for with part of the savings from winding down our overseas wars”
- 2012 D: “When President Obama took office in January 2009, our armed forces were engaged in two wars.”
- 2012 D: “Under the leadership of President Obama and the Democratic Party, the tide of war is now receding”
- 2012 D: “We have responsibly ended the war in Iraq.”
- 2012 D: “and established the conditions to draw down our forces in Afghanistan.”
- 2012 D: “After more than a decade at war, we can focus on nation-building here at home”
- 2012 D: “Charting a responsible path out of the war in Iraq has been a crucial element of President Obama’s foreign policy and has enabled important shifts in our broader strategy.”

- 2012 D: “Then-Senator Obama pledged during the 2008 campaign to responsibly end the war in Iraq, saying it was imperative to be as careful getting out as we were careless getting in – and that is precisely what he has done.”
- 2012 D: “When President Obama took office, there were over 140,000 American troops in harm’s way in Iraq.”
- 2012 D: “Today, all of those forces are out of Iraq, and there are no American bases there either.”
- 2012 D: “After taking office, President Obama removed our combat brigades and ended our combat mission on a 19-month timetable.”
- 2012 D: “And after an interim period in which we continued to advise Iraqis and conduct counterterrorism operations, we completed the drawdown of all U.S. troops last December.”
- 2012 D: “This decision was reached after extensive discussions and with the full agreement of the Iraqi government”
- 2012 D: “Many Republicans, including Mitt Romney, would have preferred to leave tens of thousands of U.S. troops in Iraq in an open-ended commitment”
- 2012 D: “President Obama’s decision to end the Iraq war freed up military and intelligence resources to refocus on this fight”
- 2012 D: “...and move away from the type of large-scale military deployments characteristic of the previous administration and favored by many Republicans today.”
- 2012 D: “And, with the support of our allies, the President has outlined a plan to end the war in Afghanistan in 2014.”

- 2012 D: “But we will not build permanent bases in Afghanistan.”
- 2012 D: “Eleven years of continuous military operations and repeated deployments to Iraq and Afghanistan have stretched our forces and strained their families.”
- 2012 D: “By responsibly ending the wars”
- 2012 R: “Combat readiness also requires that we reserve troops for truly necessary operations by not overextending them around the world.”
- 2004 D: “As other countries, including Muslim majority countries, contribute troops, the United States will be able to reduce its military presence in Iraq, and we intend to do this when appropriate so that the military support needed by a sovereign Iraqi government will no longer be seen as the direct continuation of an American military presence.”
- Emphasis on diplomacy over military force (26)
 - 2020 D: “Democrats will lead with diplomacy as our tool of first resort”
 - 2020 D: “And we will renew American diplomacy as our tool of first resort,”
 - 2020 D: “[President Trump has] hollowed out American diplomacy,”
 - 2020 D: “[Rather than end our forever wars, he's brought us to the brink of new conflicts,] and further militarized our foreign policy.”
 - 2020 D: “We will revitalize the power and purpose of American diplomacy to compete in a more contested world.”
 - 2020 D: 2020 D: “[“Democrats believe it’s past time, however, to rebalance our tools, engagement, and relationships in the Middle East away from military intervention]... leading with pragmatic diplomacy”

- 2020 D: “We will revitalize the power and purpose of American diplomacy to compete in a more contested world.”
- 2020 D: “And we will use force only when necessary, always as a last resort,”
- 2020 D: “Democrats will revitalize American diplomacy to ensure that the United States remains the world’s pivotal power”
- 2020 D: “Democrats believe that diplomacy should be our tool of first resort.”
- 2020 D: “The world’s greatest power deserves to have the world’s very best diplomatic corps.”
- 2020 D: “But today, American diplomacy is badly adrift and under resourced,”
- 2020 D: “...and our diplomats are demoralized.”
- 2020 D: “Democrats will support and invest in long overdue reforms to make the State Department more strategic, modern, agile, and effective.”
- 2020 D: “Rather than militarize our foreign policy, treat our diplomats with contempt, and call for reckless budget cuts, Democrats will put diplomacy back in the hands of professionals”
- 2020 D: “...and ensure they are better prepared to advance American interests on the central issues of our time, like disruptive technology and climate change.”
- 2020 D: “We will recruit a new generation of Americans who want to serve their country abroad”
- 2020 D: “... and ensure they have the training and tools they need.”
- 2020 D: “And we will expand and reform the Foreign Service so it reflects the diversity and richness of the country it represents.”

- 2020 D: “When used strategically—as one of the tools employed, alongside our allies, to achieve clear policy objectives—financial and economic sanctions are an effective way to advance many core U.S. national security objectives.”
- 2020 D: “Democrats believe the China challenge is not primarily a military one”
- 2020 D: “[Democrats will pursue this strategy without resorting to self-defeating, unilateral tariff wars or falling into the trap of a new Cold War. Those mistakes would only serve to exaggerate China's weight,] over-militarize our policy”
- 2016 D: “[our military] should only be sent into combat when the terms of engagement are clearly presented to the American people and our troops have what they need to fulfill their mission.”
- 2016 D: “We believe that war must always be the last resort, never the first choice”
- 2016 R: “[A strong commitment to international development and diplomacy...] can sometimes serve as an alternative means of keeping the peace, far less costly both in dollars and in human lives than military engagement.”
- 2012 D: “We must send [our military] into harm’s way only when it’s absolutely necessary.
- Reducing military spending / footprint (13)
 - 2020 D: “ [Ending the forever wars, reducing the enormous stress on our forces,] and rationalizing our global military footprint [are essential prerequisites to securing our competitive edge]”
 - 2020 D: “We will also increase time between deployments”
 - 2020 D: “[we need to...] rationalize our defense budget”

- 2020 D: “[Democrats believe the measure of our security is not how much we spend on defense, but how we spend our defense dollars] and in what proportion to other tools in our foreign policy toolbox and other urgent domestic investments.”
- 2020 D: “We spend 13 times more on the military than we do on diplomacy.”
- 2020 D: “We can maintain a strong defense and protect our safety and security for less.”
- 2020 D: “It’s past time to rebalance our investments”
- 2020 D: “...conduct rigorous annual audits of the Pentagon,”
- 2020 D: “...and end waste and fraud.”
- 2012 D: “In our current fiscal environment, we must also make tough budgetary decisions across the board – and that includes within the defense budget.”
- 2012 D: “The Budget Control Act enacted by Congress last year, with the support of Republicans and Democrats alike, mandates reductions in federal spending, including defense spending.”
- 2012 D: “...The administration has worked with Congress to make these decisions, which has been a strategy-driven process.”
- 2012 D: “And we will continue to get rid of outdated Cold War-era systems so that we can invest in cutting-edge technologies and maintain a versatile set of capabilities required to execute a wide range of military missions.”
- Allies need to spend more (2)
 - 2020 D: “[we will encourage our partners to] take greater responsibility for regional security,”
 - 2020 D: “and contribute their fair share.”

- Anti-sanctions (6)
 - 2020 D: “But when misused and overused, sanctions not only undermine our interests,”
 - 2020 D: “...they threaten one of the United States’ greatest strategic assets: the importance of the American financial system.”
 - 2020 D: “Democrats will guard against the improper application of economic and financial sanctions that incentivize foreign businesses to bypass our financial system,”
 - 2020 D: “...corrode the power and potential of sanctions,”
 - 2020 D: “...undercut the potential of our diplomacy,...”
 - 2020 D: “...[and] hurt our economy.”
- Civil-military relations (4)
 - 2020 D: “We will end the Trump Administration’s politicization of the armed forces”
 - 2020 D: “...and distortion of civilian and military roles in decision-making.”
 - 2020 D: “Democrats will never use active duty soldiers as political props,”
 - 2020 D: “...and we will never send military forces to suppress Americans exercising their constitutional rights.”
- Opposition to a military draft (4)
 - 2016 R: “Our country's all-volunteer force has been a success.”
 - 2016 R: “We oppose the reinstatement of the draft, except in dire circumstances like world war, whether directly or through compulsory national service.”

- 2016 R: “We support the all-volunteer force and oppose unnecessary policy changes, including compulsory national service”
- 2012 R: “We oppose the reinstatement of the draft whether directly or through compulsory national service.”

- 2012 R: “Until China abides by the WTO’s Government Procurement Agreement, the United States government will end procurement of Chinese goods and services.”
- 2012 R: “Our serious trade disputes, especially China’s failure to enforce international standards for the protection of intellectual property and copyrights, as well as its manipulation of its currency, call for a firm response from a new Republican Administration.”

- Statements with no obvious relation to protectionism (14)
 - 2020 D: “We will provide further assistance to students at these schools [HBCUs], as well as other students across the country,
 - 2020 D: “...by restoring year-round Pell funding so that low- and middle-income students from all backgrounds can get the support they need to make progress toward a college degree throughout the year.”
 - 2016 R: “[For the people of Russia, we affirm our respect and our determination to maintain a friendship beyond the reach of those who wish to divide us. We have common imperatives: Ending terrorism, combating nuclear proliferation,] promoting trade, [and more].”
 - 2016 R: “Determined to crush the double-digit inflation that was part of the Carter Administration's economic legacy, President Reagan, shortly after his inauguration, established a commission to consider the feasibility of a metallic basis for U.S. currency.”
 - 2016 R: “In 2012, facing the task of cleaning up the wreckage of the current Administration's policies,”
 - 2016 R: “...we proposed a similar commission to investigate ways to set a fixed value for the dollar.”
 - 2016 R: “...With Republican leadership, the House of Representatives has passed legislation to set up just such a commission.”

- 2016 R: "... We recommend its enactment by the full Congress and the commission's careful consideration of ways to secure the integrity of our currency."
- 2012 R: "The Republican Party is committed to domestic energy independence."
- 2012 R: "That is the best way to advance North American energy independence."

- 2008 R: "Looking to the inevitable day of liberation, we support restrictions on trade with, and travel to, Cuba as a measure of solidarity with the political prisoners and all the oppressed Cuban people."
- 2004 D: "Over the last three years, record surpluses have turned into record deficits [specifically referring to budget deficits, not trade deficits]."

Statements criticizing the United Nations or other Intergovernmental Organizations. These statements are drawn from the Manifesto Project's "Internationalism – Negative" category (code 107).

- Opposition to joining IGO-facilitated conventions to which the United States is not currently a member (16)

- 2016 R: “We do not support the U.N. Convention on Women’s Rights, the Convention on the Rights of the Child, the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities, and the U.N. Arms Trade Treaty, as well as various declarations from the U.N. Conference on Environment and Development.”
- 2016 R: “To shield members of our Armed Forces and others in service to America from ideological prosecutions overseas, the Republican Party does not accept the jurisdiction of the International Criminal Court.”
- 2016 R: “We therefore oppose the adoption or ratification of treaties that would weaken or encroach upon American sovereignty or that could be construed by courts to do so.”
- 2016 R: “We will not recognize as binding upon the United States any international agreement forged without the constitutionally required assent of two-thirds of the United States Senate.”
- 2016 R: “Because of our concern for American sovereignty,”
- 2016 R: “...we have deep reservations about the regulatory, legal, and tax regimes inherent in the Law of the Sea Treaty.”
- 2012 R: “Subjecting American citizens to foreign laws is inimical to the spirit of the Constitution.
- 2012 R: “...It is one reason we oppose U.S. participation in the International Criminal Court.”
- 2012 R: “To shield members of our Armed Forces and others in service to America from ideological prosecutions overseas, the Republican Party does not accept the jurisdiction of the International Criminal Court.”

- 2012 R: “[Under our Constitution, treaties become the law of the land. So it is all the more important that the Congress—the Senate through its ratifying power and the House through its appropriating power—shall reject agreements whose long-range impact on the American family is ominous or unclear.] These include the U.N. Convention on Women’s Rights, the Convention on the Rights of the Child, the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities, and the U.N. Arms Trade Treaty as well as the various declarations from the U.N. Conference on Environment and Development.”
- 2012 R: “Just as George Washington wisely warned America to avoid foreign entanglements and enter into only temporary alliances, we oppose the adoption or ratification of international treaties that weaken or encroach upon American sovereignty.”
- 2012 R: “We oppose any diplomatic efforts that could result in giving the United Nations unprecedented control over the Internet.”
- 2012 R: “International regulatory control over the open and free Internet would have disastrous consequences for the United States and the world.”
- 2012 R: “Because of our concern for American sovereignty, domestic management of our fisheries, and our country’s longterm energy needs, we have deep reservations about the regulatory, legal, and tax regimes inherent in the Law of the Sea Treaty”
- 2012 R: “... and congratulate Senate Republicans for blocking its ratification.”
- 2004 R: “We hail the actions of President Bush and the Republican Congress to ensure that our nation's efforts to meet our global security commitments and protect Americans are not impaired by the potential for investigations, inquiry, or prosecution by the International Criminal Court, whose jurisdiction we do not accept as extending to Americans.”

- Opposition to programs related to environmental protection (11)
 - 2016 R: “The United Nations’ Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change is a political mechanism, not an unbiased scientific institution.”
 - 2016 R: “...Its unreliability is reflected in its intolerance toward scientists and others who dissent from its orthodoxy.”
 - 2016 R: “...We will evaluate its recommendations accordingly.”
 - 2016 R: “We reject the agendas of both the Kyoto Protocol and the Paris Agreement, which represent only the personal commitments of their signatories”
 - 2016 R: “We demand an immediate halt to U.S. funding for the U.N.’s Framework Convention on Climate Change (UNFCCC) in accordance with the 1994 Foreign Relations Authorization Act.”
 - 2016 R: “...That law prohibits Washington from giving any money to "any affiliated organization of the United Nations which grants Palestinians membership as a state.”
 - 2016 R: “...There is no ambiguity in that language.”
 - 2016 R: “...It would be illegal for the President to follow through on his intention to provide millions in funding for the UNFCCC and hundreds of millions for its Green Climate Fund.”
 - 2016 R: “We emphatically reject U.N. Agenda 21 as erosive of U.S. sovereignty, and we oppose any form of Global Tax.”

- 2012 R: “We strongly reject the U.N. Agenda 21 as erosive of American sovereignty”
- 2004 R: “Our President and our Party strongly oppose the Kyoto Protocol and similar mandatory carbon emissions controls that harm economic growth and destroy American jobs.”
- Demands for institutional reform (7)
 - 2016 D: “Many of these organizations need reform and updating”
 - 2016 R: “Our continued participation in the United Nations should be contingent upon the enactment of long-overdue changes in the way that institution functions.”
 - 2016 R: “We should no longer tolerate its managerial scandals,”
 - 2012 R: “The United Nations remains in dire need of reform”
 - 2012 R: “..., starting with full transparency in the financial operations of its overpaid bureaucrats.
 - 2012 R: “As long as its scandal-ridden management continues, as long as some of the world’s worst tyrants hold seats on its Human Rights Council, and as long as Israel is treated as a pariah state, the U.N. cannot expect the full support of the American people.”
 - 2008 R: “The UN must reform its scandal-ridden and corrupt management and become more accountable and transparent in its operations and expenses.”
- Other miscellaneous issues (8)

- 2016 R: “The U.N.’s Population Fund has, from its origin, been rooted in no-growth policies that limit economic development in the countries needing it most.”
- 2012 R: “and we oppose any form of U.N. Global Tax.”
- 2008 R: “Discrimination against Israel at the UN is unacceptable.”
- 2008 R: “At the United Nations, our country will pay a fair, but not disproportionate, share of dues, but we will never support a UN-imposed tax.”
- 2008 R: “As a matter of U.S. sovereignty, American forces must remain under American command.”
- 2004 R: “We oppose all attempts by the United Nations to impose a global tax and reject any claims of authority by United Nations to do so.”
- 2004 R: “The United Nations was not designed to summon or lead armies in the field and, as a matter of U.S. sovereignty, American troops must never serve under United Nations command.”
- 2004 R: “We support adoption of bipartisan legislation to withhold the annual headquarters contribution made by the U.S. Department of State to the International Committee of the Red Cross if Magen David Adom is not given the opportunity to participate fully in the activities of the International Red Cross and Red Crescent Movement.”

SI Section 2: Documentation of iPoll public opinion data

The paper uses data from the Roper Center’s iPoll database to compare public opinion from the early Cold War (1946-1960) to public opinion over the last fifteen years (2009-2024).² Following the approach developed in Benjamin Page and Robert Shapiro’s The Rational Public (Chicago, 1995), the paper tracks changes and/or continuity in public opinion by identifying similar questions that were asked in similar ways across those two eras. This appendix explains how those questions were identified and documents the iPoll survey data described in the paper’s main text. All data come from nationally-representative samples of U.S. adults.³

1. “The Roper Center’s iPoll database contains 28 surveys from the Truman and Eisenhower administrations that asked voters to say whether they thought military spending should be increased, decreased, or kept about the same. On average, 25 percent of these surveys’ respondents supported raising military expenditures with 19 percent supporting defense budget cuts.” Search parameters: Surveys from 1945-1960 that iPoll tags as pertaining to defense spending, with three response options (increase, decrease, keep about the same).
